Obligation of confidentiality / freedom of rights of third parties / data protection / photos:

I am obliged to maintain confidentiality with regard to all facts and information made accessible to me by the universities in carrying out the doc:muv mentoring programme. The obligation of confidentiality continues after the end of the programme.

I declare that my submitted documents are free of third-party rights.

Moreover, I am responsible for compliance with legal data protection provisions (especially the General Data Protection Regulation) with regard to the processing of any personal data collected/used by me – in particular with regard to the disclosure of the personal data of preferred mentors.

In case of admission to the programme, the University of Vienna is entitled to create/produce/edit photos of my person during workshops and events, in unaltered or edited form while respecting my personality rights and specifying my name (first name and last name), including academic titles and any functions, free of charge and to use them as specified in the list below for the purpose of informing the public on the fulfilment of its tasks as a university:

- Reporting on the programme on the University of Vienna’s websites/intranet
- Dissemination on social media (Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, etc.)
- Usage in print materials
- Transfer to (online) media

Information about the processing and protection of personal data of the applicants:

As part of the mentoring programme doc:mv, the University of Vienna processes the personal data provided in the application form and its enclosures for the purpose of carrying out all internal programme-related processes (admission, supervision and support) at the University.

To participate in the mentoring programme doc:mv, it is not necessary to provide special categories of personal data\(^1\). With my signature, I confirm that if my application form or the enclosures (such as the curriculum vitae) nevertheless contain special categories of personal data, I consent to their processing within the framework of the programme. I have the right to withdraw my consent to the processing of special categories of personal data at any given time via mail to Universität Wien, Universitätsring 1, 1010 Wien or via e-mail to dsba@univie.ac.at, without affecting the lawfulness of processing based on consent before I withdrew my consent.

The participants’ data are processed by the organisational team of the University of Vienna and/or within the responsible units of the University only within the framework of the programme and are only shared with the employees who are involved in this programme, as well as the relevant mentor.

\(^1\) Ethnic origin; political opinions; religious or philosophical beliefs; trade union membership; genetic data; biometric data processed for the purpose of uniquely identifying a natural person; data concerning health; data concerning sex life or sexual orientation.
Due to statutory obligations to provide data, it may be necessary to transfer personal data to third parties (especially public authorities, state (regulatory) institutions).

Photos of the participants, including the details mentioned in the chapter above, will exclusively be processed for the purposes specified there and will therefore also be published in this context and thus made accessible to the public. Recipients of this data include the organisation team and the responsible units of the University of Vienna, as well as media representatives and all processors appointed for artistic/graphic design.

The legal basis for the processing of the participant's personal data is the need for processing to exercise and fulfil the rights and commitments arising from the agreements with the participant regarding the programme, including the publication/making available of the photos (article 6, para. 1, sub-para. b of the GDPR). Moreover, the legal basis for the processing of personal data can be seen in the fact that the processing is predominantly necessary to safeguard the legitimate interests of the University of Vienna with regard to the tasks specified in the 2002 Universities Act (article 6, para. 1, sub-para. f of the GDPR in conjunction with section 3 and section 40c para. 2 of the Universities Act).

There is no obligation to provide personal data. However, it is not possible to take part in the mentoring programme if participants do not provide their data. As mentioned above, participants do not have to provide special categories of personal data to take part in the programme.

The personal data will be stored by the University of Vienna for the duration of statutory storage periods. In addition, the storage period is determined in accordance with criteria such as topicality and relevance with regard to the purposes mentioned above and any proof required for the correct implementation of the legal relationship with you in connection with any disagreements or disputes, up to three years after this proof has been provided.

As a participant in the programme, you have the right to information, rectification, erasure, restriction of processing, data portability and the right to object. In addition, you have the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority. In Austria, this is the Data Protection Authority, Barichgasse 40-42, 1030 Vienna, Tel. +43 1 52 152-0, e-mail: dsb@dsb.gv.at.

You can reach the data protection officers of the University of Vienna, Daniel Stanonik and Karsten Kinast (representing each other alternately) at +43-1-4277-110 00, dsba@univie.ac.at
